Low Driving Costs

(Famous race driver says)

"The 1920 Model of Marmon 34 which I am now driving is the fourteenth car which I have owned and driven and it is the first car I have ever driven over 8000 miles. To date I have driven my Marmon nearly 25,000 miles. I consider the work imposed on this car unusually severe and the results obtained have been most satisfactory. The car runs fully as well today as when new and with no evidence of fatigue. I have no means of judging what the useful life of the car will be."

Sammy Johnston

AN analysis of the maintenance costs for Marmons of the 1922 series shows that the average figure for New York and vicinity was $4.35 per month per car.

Four dollars and thirty-five cents for all expenses required to minimize depreciation and hold the car at the height of its perfection.

This conclusive evidence of economical maintenance, coupled with acknowledged superiority in roadability and constant service, proves Marmon to be supreme among high class cars.

Marmon Standardized Service is a new super-feature just inaugurated. Now when any recent series car goes into the shop for repair or overhaul, the owner knows in advance the exact cost and the length of time his car will be in the shop.

It's surprising how little it costs to drive a Marmon.

REBELS DIE BY OWN MINE

Believed Ambuscade Was Being Fixed for Free Staters When Blast Occurred.

DUBLIN, Nov. 19 (Associated Press).—Erskine Childers, one of Eamon de Valera's chief lieutenants, who was captured by Free State troops and tried on a charge of carrying arms by the recently instituted military court, has been convicted. If he is executed, De Valera threatens heavy reprisals. Childers's trial was concluded Saturday after his counsel had withdrawn from the case when the court refused to sustain their contention that he should be tried as a prisoner of war. His sentence has not been announced. [Four men were executed Friday by the Free State after they had been convicted by military court of carrying loaded revolvers in Dublin. Their case was discussed in the Dail, where President William Cosgrave summed up the Government's policy as follows: "If De Valera is going to lead his followers, as he said, to victory or extermination, it is the Government's duty to see that it isn't victory." He said a series of rebel reprisals might be expected, but it was better to "do it now and get it over."]

De Valera Issues Threat.
De Valera in a message to the people of Ireland to-day asserts that the British Government has given orders for the execution of Erskine Childers, and declares that such a crime will "make the men and women of our race hang their heads in shame."

"If this order is carried out, he continues, 'not all the blood that will flow as a consequence will expiate our national guilt. We shall be called a nation of slaves and the slaves of slaves, and we shall not be left with an answer.' Declaring that Childers remained incorruptible when many became corrupt, he concludes: 'If it is not the people's will that a faithful and loyal servant should be sacrificed to any of Churchill's hate, then within an hour you will rise up and fling from the positions they have usurped and dishonored those who would dare so to blacken forever the fair name of this nation.'"

Dublin is suffering an acute attack of the nerves, partly owing to De Valera's threat of reprisals if Erskine Childers is executed and partly through the horror of the Inchicore explosion and other happenings. One incident to-day testified to the state of tension.

Rebels Killed Planting Mine.
When a lorry loaded with Free State soldiers passed slowly through a crowd holding a meeting of protest in connection with the hunger strike of Mary MacSwiney and her sister many in the crowd shouted abusive epithets. A shot was fired from the crowd and the soldiers replied with a volley in the air, which provoked a panic. This was followed by machine gun fire and three civilians are reported to have been wounded. Annie MacSwiney is maintaining her vigil outside Mountjoy prison, where Mary MacSwiney has been fasting since November 4. Four men were killed by the explosion at Inchicore last night, one having died in the hospital and three being killed outright. Two survivors are in the hospital badly injured. Just prior to the explosion a party of men was seen carrying a heavy article from the field beside the Naas road. The explosion was accompanied by a great burst of flame. People in nearby houses were shocked by the violence of the detonation. The dead men were so mutilated that identification was impossible. Firearms and ammunition were found beside a nearby wall and it is believed an ambuscade was being prepared.

Gland Grafting Old Practice in Africa

ONE by one the fond illusions of the present that it has conceived something unknown to the past are rudely shattered by rediscovered facts. The monkey gland operation, one of the proudest accomplishments of recent radical surgery, was added to the list yesterday.

E. M. Newman, a lecturer who arrived last week from Africa after traversing the "Dark Continent" from Cape Town to Cairo, brought back the information that the gland operation was known and performed on the banks of the Congo before the birth of the twentieth century, and that it was comparatively common ten to fifteen years ago among Europeans who had become enervated by the climate of the tropics.

"I was astounded to read so much of this gland grafting in the American publications I received while in Africa and those I have seen in the last week," Mr. Newman said last night. "Contrary to it being a modern discovery, I talked with a physician in the Belgian Congo who performed the operation twelve years ago and had learned it previously from a French surgeon who lived in the Congo at the time Stanley was exploring the continent."

Mr. Newman said the hope of Europe lies in Africa's vast resources.

AMERICANS TO SPEAK OUT IN CONFERENCE

Will Insist on Equality, but Will Not Vote.

LAUSANNE, Nov. 19 (Associated Press).—The indications to-night that the representatives of the United States Government will take an active part in the Near Eastern conference have suddenly given that conference great international importance. America will not only observe—she will speak, and speak out vigorously, when she thinks the occasion demands it and in a general way will insist on every right of participation enjoyed by other countries in all things except actual voting.

Such, the Associated Press understands, is the American position, and it is founded on the fact that the United States, like the European powers, possesses interests in Turkey and upon the American conviction that the United States cannot sit idly by and allow other world nations to dispose of the future of the Turkish State without taking into consideration its views.

VERA CRUZ FASCISTI ELECT CERDAN LEADER

Former Deputy Says Reconstruction of Country Is Object

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19 (Associated Press).—Rodolfo Cerdan, former member of the Chamber of Deputies, has been made head of the Fascisti movement in the State of Vera Cruz, according to advice to El Universal. Cerdan is quoted as having said: We will work energetically for the reconstruction of our country, to give impulse to its immeasurable riches, and to the end that all religious creeds and political parties may be fully respected."
